

Theme 6

New Discoveries

LATE ROMAN POTTERY FROM BATHHOUSE VI OF ARYCANDA (LYCIA):

PRELIMINARY REPORT

Asil Yaman

Muğla Sıtkı Koçman University

Communication Type: Poster

asilyaman@mu.edu.tr

Archaeological excavations at Arycanda (Lycia) began in 1971. Recent years the researches focused on the southeastern side of the site. During the 2004-2012 season, the excavation team unearthed a quarter which dated late antique period. As a result of studies in the quarter many buildings discovered as basilica, peristyle house and Roman bath called Bathhouse VI. This presentation deals with the first preliminary research of late roman pottery at Bathhouse VI.